Step In The Right Direction

WE heartily applaud the Town Council's proposed request to County Supervisors, and through them, to the Circuit Court, to create a separate precinct for the Town of Appomattox.

The Town of Appomattox is already paying for town elections, judges, clerks, and other expenses, so the matter of creating a separate precinct will simply expedite town elections, and make certain that town taxpayers and residents will have the say on matters which directly affect them.

We make a suggestion that the new precinct, if and when approved, be located in an easily accessible votimg spot. Some voters are physically unable to climb the long flight of steps to the Court House. Some of these voters DO vote via absentee ballot, but this extra bother and paper work might be avoided with a street level location.

Work and Worship

Lesson for March 3, 1963

Worship can be called words uttered to the glory of God. Work can be called actions for the glory of God. A sincere person like J. S. Bach, the great musician, can write music to the glory of God. Men have written hymns and refused to seek a copywright on them; let them be used by anyone to the glory of God, they said. A mother, asked what she had done during the week to glorify God, could point to her children. Every act a mother does, no matter how trivial, which goes to the making of an upstanding citizen of church and state, is surely work done for the glory of God. Which is a better way to serve him and bear witness to Him, FIN or worship? In which way do we best glorify the Father of all?

Work Is Not Worship

That is a rather stupid question. It's like asking, when does a man love his wife the most, when he's sending her flowers or when he is working hard for her sake? There's no question when he feels most romantic — of course it's when he sends the flowers. But that's not the question: when does he love her the most? You can see it's not a sensible question, because he loves her all the time, but he shows it in different ways.

So work and worship both grow out of our love for God and desire to do His will. (We are talking about Christians, not people-in-general.) Yet though so much alike at base, work and worship are not the same. There are people who seem to think either one can take the place of the other. There are men in monasteries who have taken a vow of silence, and never so much as speak to their own relatives any more. They do nothing all day and night but meditate and pray. On the other hand there are persons who feel that if they are sufficiently busy, God will (so to speak) excuse them from going to church. Some Christians starve themselves spiritually because they get too busy to read the Bible, too busy to have even two minutes of prayer a day.

Jesus at Worship and at Work

In this as in all ways, Jesus found the right balance. He was often so pressed for time and place that He hardly had room enough to move around. He was so busy, at times that He could not find an hour for prayer all day. If any one could ever have said, My work is so important, and it is done so plainly to the glory of God, that the Lord will excuse me if I don't attend the synagogue and don't have a prayer time all week; if any one could ever have said that it was Jesus. But no, when His work grew heavy He would get up long before daylight and go off to the hills to pray alone. And on the Sabbath when He came out from the synagogue to find people in need waiting in line for Him to help them, He did not tell them this was His day for worship and communion with God. An old teacher in a Methodist school was known never to miss prayer-meeting. One day a student who hadn't prepared his lesson thought he had the perfect excuse. "I was at prayer-meeting last night, sir," he said. The professor retorted: "I've no use for any one who lets religion be an excuse for skipping work." Jesus might have said just that. Can you imagine a Jesus who never prayed? or can you imagine a Jesus who never did anything but pray? Neither would be the real Jesus!

He Needed Both

Worship and work were not "electives" in Jesus' life. They were not something to be taken or not, as your whim might be. Work and worship were necessities for Him. Whatever else He needed them for, it was at least this: He needed prayer and work in order to be what He was. For whatever we do leaves its mark on us. There are bad marks, like the mark of Cain, and there are the good marks, like the print of the nails in Jesus' hands. If Jesus' life would have been weak and empty without worship and work in abundance, how can we dare to try the dangerous experiment of neglecting those two great supports of the God-pleasing soul, the worship of God and work in His name?

Library News

"The woods are lovely, dark and deep,
But I have promisses to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And I have miles to go before I sleep."

— Robert Frost from the poem: Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening."

Robert Frost, often referred to as the Dean of Poets died January 28th at the age of 88. A full time Pulitzer winner, he remained until the end — a person of great humility. He was born 10 years after the Civil War and because of the family's great admiration for Gen. Robert E. Lee, Robert's Frost was named Robert LEE Frost.

Among his better know poems the ones as follows: The Birches, The Death of the Hired Man; Mend-Pile; Mending Wall; The Road Not Taken; "Stopping by woods on a snowy evening" and his last one The Gift Outright which was recited at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy.

The Appomattox County Library has four books of poems by Robert Frost They are: "Selected Poems" "A Further Range".

Appreciative Crowd Attends Carver-Price P. T. A.

An appreciative crowd attended the regular meeting of the Carver Price PTA last Monday evening Feb. 25 at 7:30. The president Rev. J. W. Paige presided. The devotionals were conducted by Deacon J. W. King. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, a special report from the program of activities for the remaining part of the school year was given by Mrs. Inize Patrick and Mrs. Virginia Randolph. The P-TA voted to give Mrs. H. R. Foster, a teacher of the Carver Price High School and a faithful member of the PTA, who has been sick for the past three months a special donation from the treasury. The PTA voted to give a gift to Mrs. G. L. James, a member of the local faculty who will leave the school on the first of March for the State Department of Education in Richmond, as a supervisor of English.

Mr. Earl Smith, superintendent of schools was introduced by Mrs. M. J. Price. He gave an informal address of the education situation in Appomattox and a progress report on the new elementary department. Mr. Smith pointed out that the preliminary plans had been approved for an eleven room addition. He also stated that actual construction will depend upon release of money from the State Department. A period of questions and answer followed Mr. Smith's presentation. Remarks were given by the president, our principal and Mrs. Price.

Plans are completed for the annual basketball tournament of Group II District II to be held at the Carver Price High School on this Saturday, March 2 beginning at 9 a.m. We are happy to regort that our girls and boys basketball teams won the district championship last Saturday evening in their annual home coming festivities against the Carter G. Woodson School of Dillwyn.

Despite the snow last Sunday regular services were held at the Promise Land Baptist Church. The pastor delivered a special sermon. The offering which was very good was taken by Deacons Emmette Fleshman and William Hancock.

The public is invited to worship at the Galilee Baptist Church this Sunday at the regular 11:30 a.m. service.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Mollie Durphy were conducted from the Zion Baptist Church last Sunday at 1 p.m. The Rev. H. J. Hendericks, pastor presided and delivered the eulogy. The choir rendered special music. The deceased was one of the oldest members of the church. She was described by her pastor as being faithful in every auxillary of the church. The resolutions from the church and the auxiliaries were acknowledged by Mrs. O. W. Smith, church clerk. The following survive, a husband, Deacon Joseph Durphy, one step daughter, three devoted nieces and one nephew and a host of other relatives and friends.

Rev. and Mrs. R. Q. Lawing, Deacon and Mrs. Justin McDaniels and Mrs. Louise Canada were the Sunday dinner guests of Deacon and Mrs. J. W. King.

Miss H. B. Stephens is on the sick list.

Plans were announced for a special service to be given at the Promise Land Baptist Church on the third Sunday in March at 3 p.m. The program will be sponsored by the Men's Club of the church. The public is invited to be present.

Mrs. Pauline Hancock, of New York, spent the week end here as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Hancock, of the Promise Land community.

Four Local Men Attend Southern States Meeting

Southern States Cooperative's net savings for members were up sharply during the first six months of the 1962-63 fiscal year, according to a report presented by L. O. Brumback, of Richmond, Va., to members at a regional board meeting held in Lynchburg on February 13, 1963.

L. L. Brumback told the 79 States member and guest young farmers at the session that even though overall volume was down, increased operating economy gave the cooperative net savings of $720,000 for the first half of the 1962-63 fiscal year. This compares with a net loss of $509,000 in the first six months of the previous fiscal year.

Members were shown the cooperative's new emblem design that will be used in its identification program.

Attending the session from this area were W. T. Coleman, manager of Coleman's Feed and Seed Store, local Southern States retail outlet at Appomattox; and board members Thomas O. Davidson, Floyd Fleshman, James A. Smith, county agent, and Dewitt Evans, of Farmers National Bank.
